

Developing a CubeSat for NASA's CSLI Program

Students for the Exploration and Development of Space

Students for the Exploration and Development of Space (SEDS) at Tennessee Tech have a number of exciting ongoing projects. One of these is work on NASA's CubeSat Launch Initiative. The SEDS team will describe the program and give details about the mechanical, electrical, software, and ground station design work that goes into creating a CubeSat project.